

For a Land Where No One Need Be Anxious

Words and Music, Paul Janssen, 2011

For a land where no one need be anx - ious, where each In a vil - lage where life is re - spect - ed, where each Toward a world where God's just - ice is act - ive, where each one has a fair share of food, where no child needs to fear an - y one knows how much is e - nough, where no one sees the o - ther as one hears God's sum - mons to peace, where no ran - cor di - vides ci - vil strang - er, where all folk sleep the night on a bed: for such a ob - ject, where all folk val - ue truth a - bove all: in such a dis - course, where all folk hold God's will in their hearts: just such a land, O Lord, I hum - bly pray. vil - lage, O Lord, I'll glad - ly sing. world, O Lord, I will cre - ate!
